allows both artists to engage and connect with their audiences.

“I can’t believe some of the bigger name artists we have as a part of our fall lineup. We really wanted to make some changes this fall and I think we’re on the right track.”, said Kyle Hartline, co-manager of The Blue Room. Hartline shared that from what he has heard people are enjoying the fall concert lineup thus far.

Attendees are encouraged to arrive early to ensure plenty of time to enjoy food and beverages. All three of the full bars and The Blue Room kitchen will be open. The Blue Room will open back up to the public when the concert is completed at 10 p.m.
